War Summary

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
AT THE FRONT:

Ethiopian tribesmen invaded Italian Somaliland at two different points, one force of invaders occupying the Somali town of Od-dur. Somali tribesmen were said to be joining the Ethiopians.

With bombing planes overhead, the Italian forces drove toward Makale in the north of Ethiopia; and, from the south, toward Harar, eastern metropolis of Haile Selassie's empire.

The emperor, in a proclamation to his people, said Ethiopia was undefeated on any front. The occupation of Aksum and Addis Ababa without military significance, he said, inasmuch as his armies fell back strategically into the hills.

Addis Ababa rejoiced in the belief that the Italians would fall into a natural trap of ravines and mountains fastnesses as they progressed southward. Fear was felt for the safety of Harar, "Garden of Ethiopia."

Diplomatic Moves:
Great Britain and France, it was disclosed in official circles, are asking Washington if the United States would restrict its imports from Italy if such a sanction were voted by the league. Japan, Germany and Brazil, other non-members of the league, were similarly asked.

Official circles in Paris regarded Premier Laval's efforts to achieve peace as virtually useless.

The League of Nations sanctions committee was urged by Anthony Eden of Great Britain to endorse a "Buy nothing from Italy" campaign. No action was taken.

Rome officialdom asserted nothing could alter Italy's course, and newspapers warned that if war with England must come, Italy would be ready.

In London, unconfirmed reports said Premier Stanley Baldwin refused to promise a parliamentary group that England would not become involved in a European war.

REVISE BARRED LIST.

Geneva, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The League of Nations panel sanctions committee of 52 states today adopted a report of military experts slightly revising President Roosevelt's list of what constitutes implements of war.

The report lists mustard gas and other gases included in the Roosevelt statement and "all other products destined for chemical and incendiary warfare."

M. Motta, Switzerland's league spokesman, said the use of poison gas is already prohibited by international law and it should not be therefore sent anywhere, not even to Ethiopia.

Anthony Eden of England backed energetically at a meeting of the economic sanction committee of the league today a proposal that league states buy nothing from Italy, but no decision was taken by the committee.

Warmly Supported.

The proposal, originally advanced by the British, for a boycott by League nations of purchases from Italy, was also supported warmly by the Netherlands and Belgium.

Rumania, Sweden, Russia and Turkey also favored it. Switzerland, however, advanced some questions.

The British minister for league affairs emerged from the session in high good humor nevertheless, and sources close to him said no real opposition had developed to this additional form of pressure against Italy.

While pursuing relentlessly their erection of sanctions barriers against Italy, League delegates found time to consider an offensive for peace which Premier Pierre Laval was reported to be conducting at Paris.

Laval Has Peace Plan.

Reliable sources said Laval contemplated suggestion of an East African peace plan under which the Ethiopian province of Tigre, now occupied by Italian troops, would go to Italy, which also would gain a mandate over outlying Ethiopian regions.

League sources generally, however, believed that any such program would be opposed by Great Britain and many other powers, especially Russia.

League officials also anticipated inflexible opposition from Ethiopia to any cession of territory to Italy, whether in the form of a protectorate or otherwise.

In the session of the economic sanctions committee, some delegates asked for statistical information.

G. O. P. In Control

Boston, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Republicans celebrated today a hard fought bye-election victory which gave them control of the state senate.

William H. McSweeney, of Salem, defeated his Democratic opponent, John C. Birmingham of Beverly, in the second Essex senatorial district by 4844 votes, to fill a vacancy due to death of a state senator. McSweeney's victory gives the Republicans a 21-19 margin in the senate.

CORRUPTION IS RESULT UTILITY CONTROL BY GOV.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Harper Sibley, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, charged inefficiency and corruption would be the probable ultimate consequences if utilities were politically controlled.

Sibley in a speech prepared for delivery before the American Gas Association today, told the association "the drive for government ownership in public utilities is a matter of national concern."

He counseled them that "it is your duty to inform the public of the issues as it was the duty of the utilities as a whole to oppose the holding company legislation in the last session of congress."

Had the government taken over the gas industry 30 years ago, he said, "I venture to say that it would be right up front among the 'horse and buggy' enterprises."

"That your business is larger than ever before and that it is moving ahead with confidence is, in my judgment, directly attributable to the fact your industry has been predominantly owned and conducted by private individuals."

Round Grove Woman Resumes Yawning at Alarming Rate Today

Round Grove, Ill., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Harold McKee, who has been yawning since Thursday, awakened from an opiate inspired sleep this morning.

Slowly her jaws opened. Once, twice, three times she yawned. Soon she was yawning steadily, eight to 11 times a minute, wide, feature-distorting gapes.

This is the seventh day she has yawned steadily. Two more days and the nine-day yawning siege she suffered last December will be equalled.

Dr. H. L. Pettit of Morrison, her physician, said he noted little change in her condition today.

Lacking funds for hospitalization, Mrs. McKee is being cared for by a friend who is a retired nurse and volunteered her service.

King Carol's Girl Friend in Surprise Return to Rumania

Sinaia, Rumania, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Mme. Magda Lupescu, intimate friend of King Carol, surprised her opponents today by returning from France to Rumania in time for observance of King Carol's 42nd birthday.

She remained in seclusion here, however, and was not scheduled to take part in any of the celebration at Carol's summer palace.

Her sudden return confused National Peasant party leaders who were in the midst of an "anti-Lupescu drive," and her return was regarded in some quarters as a definite challenge to those opposing her power behind the government scenes.

Queen Marie and her children arrived for a family gathering, and the entire Rumanian cabinet came by special train to pay birthday respects to the King.

PEACE IN MILK STRIKE LIKELY; TERMS OFFERED

Judge Shurtleff Calls Pure Milk Association a "Fraud"

Elgin, Ill., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Peace terms in the Chicago milkshed were offered by striking farmers today for a 30 day truce period.

A break in the deadlock, marked by violence and curtailment of the city's milk supply for longer than a fortnight came with the offers by strikers to sell all the milk they produced at a flat rate of $1.75 a hundred pounds, F. O. B. local loading stations.

Robert F. Marcotte, strike leader, announced the offer had been accepted by eight Chicago independent dealers. He said whether the strike would be called off depended upon the action to be taken later at a mass meeting of producers from nine Illinois and four Wisconsin counties.

Marcotte said milk would be offered to all dealers on the same terms.

Paul Potter, secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, reported that ten additional plants had started shipping milk to Chicago and that there was no danger of a shortage.

Seven Point Program.

E. L. Bost, a producer of Harvard, Ill., presented a seven point program at the mass meeting last night, which he said was offered by the Chicago independent dealers who agreed to accept the $1.75 price.

No action was taken on the proposal which called for:

- 1.—Flat price of $1.75 a hundred for all milk offered.
- 2.—Call off the strike.
- 3.—Refuse to sell under the old checkoff plan.
- 4.—Serve independent dealers first.
- 5.—Boycott the Pure Milk Association.
- 6.—Withdraw from membership in the PMA.
- 7.—Organize a new marketing association.

Assn. Called "Fraud."

Claims of the strikers that the organization represented 55 per cent of the farmers in the Chicago milk shed were scoffed at by Pure Milk Association officials.

While violence had diminished from the sluggings and vandalism that early characterized the strike, a spokesman for the Pure Milk Association charged that picketing and milk destruction still occurred on tributary roads leading to main highways.

Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo, who presided over the strikers' negotiating committee, called the Pure Milk Association a "fraud" and urged PMA members to "retire Don Geyer." Geyer is secretary-manager of the association.

SUSPECT RELEASED

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Authorities today released Howard Falks, 24, transient shelter resident, after federal agents said investigation indicated he had no connection with the mysterious disappearance in New Mexico last May of four Illinois tourists.

AAA Has Collected Over 153 Millions Process Taxes in Illinois; 44 Millions Paid

Washington, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Illinois farmers received $548,910.51 in AAA payments for July, increasing to $44,124,184.51 the amount paid them since the program became effective, the agricultural adjustment administration announced today.

These payments are made from processing taxes, the collection of which in Illinois amounted to $153,841,726 as of July 1. Collections since that date have not yet been announced.

While processing taxes collected in Illinois are greatly in excess of the AAA benefits paid, officials point out that the state, one of the Publishers Called "Chumps" by Inland Press Assn. Prexy

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Linwood I. Noyes, president of the Inland Daily Press Association, called newspaper publishers "chumps" today for using free advertising in their columns.

They are endangering the "very existence" of their papers — "revenue from paid advertising" — by the practice, he said at the Inland Press' fall meeting.

A pile of publicity material sent to member newspapers a few weeks prior to the convention lay on a table in the meeting room. It, he said, indicated the newspapers receive daily "more than a ton of this stuff."

The convention heard circulation problems discussed by W. H. Edwards of the DeKalb Ill. Chronicle; Jesse B. Birks of the Herald and Review, Decatur, Ill. and others.

EDITORIAL

VOTE FOR THE AUDITORIUM

Next week, on Tuesday, October 22, the voters of the Dixon school district have an opportunity to do something worthwhile for the district, the high school students and the community at large. They can, and should, vote favorably upon the proposal for a bond issue of $30,000, which, together with the government gift which will ensue, will be used to complete the big auditorium at the Dixon high school. The auditorium, for which the right wing of Dixon's beautiful high school building was designed, is now merely a shell. The gift the federal government proposes to extend to us, which amounts to $23,700, but which we cannot get unless we vote our bond issue of $30,000, together with the bond issue money, making a total of $53,700 which will be used to build the balcony, ceiling, walls, floor, foyer, ticket office, stage, and to finish the entire interior and to provide heating and plumbing and electric lighting and seats and furniture and stage equipment, such as drops and curtains, etc.

The auditorium would not only be valuable to the students, but to the general public and would be available for public use.

The bonds, which would bear 4 per cent. interest, will, not mature until 1950, and the annual interest which amounts to $1200, can be cared for out of the regular school budget because of decreasing expenses in other directions, such as lowering paving assessments, etc.

There will be NO INCREASE IN THE TAX RATE and the tax-payer need have no doubt about that because the rate is already at the legal limit.

The annual payments will in no way interfere with or affect the pay of the teachers or have any bearing on the staff or the operation of the school because it comes out of the building fund which can only be used for such purposes as enlarging or improving the building itself.

The present outstanding bonded indebtedness against the school is $322,000. The maturity date of the additional $30,000 now proposed comes after all the present bonds will have been paid.

There are three propositions on the ballot and if you want to see the auditorium completed you should put your cross in the square after "FOR" on each proposition. The first proposition gives the school board permission to complete the auditorium, the second proposition gives the board permission to issue the $30,000 of bonds and the third proposition permits an addition to our present bonded indebtedness of 2 1/2 per cent. of our total assessed valuation. Our present percentage of indebtedness is about 3 1/4 per cent. and this new bond issue, if passed, will only increase the percentage about one quarter of one per cent.

Another angle of the situation is the work that would be created for unemployed men.

There can be no question that we need the auditorium. We cannot raise sufficient money locally to have it now, but by voting this bond issue we will secure an outright gift of nearly half the cost of the auditorium from the government. If the bond issue fails we do not get the government gift.

It seems that the sensible thing to do is to vote the bond issue and permission to increase the bonded indebtedness relation to the assessed valuation in the district by 2 1/2 per cent as the law now requires.

The polls are open next Tuesday from 12 noon until 7 P. M. There are three polling places, one at the Buick garage on North Galena, one at Glassburn's garage on Second street, and one at Finkler's store on College avenue.

No Confirmation of Reported Accident to Mr., Mrs. Harch

Rumors gained wide spread circulation here last evening and today to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harch of Dixon had been seriously injured in an automobile accident, while en route from Dixon to Los Angeles, Calif. where they planned to spend the winter. No confirmation of the report could be obtained from relatives and close friends up to a late hour today. It was rumored that Mr. and Mrs. Harch were victims of an accident about 150 miles east of Los Angeles and that both were removed to a hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Harch, who spent this summer at the Nachusa Tavern, left last week for Los Angeles to remain through the winter months.

Relief Gardens in Illinois Produced 25,000,000 Pounds

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Production of 25,000,000 pounds of vegetables from subsistence gardens operated by relief committees was estimated today by Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

Reports received from 88 counties place the harvest at 20,602,894 pounds, Reynolds said. "Since twelve more counties are to report and the figures for some of those already reporting will be revised upward because they were made before the close of the season, the total produce from these gardens probably will exceed 25,000,000 pounds."

County relief agencies operate canning centers, Reynolds said, in 79 counties to conserve the garden products for winter use.

James McCoy's Pet Dog Trixie Is Dead

James McCoy is mourning the loss of his wire-haired terrier "Trixie," which died Tuesday morning at the ripe old age of 19 years. Trixie was daily passenger on the truck with Mr. McCoy and was a familiar figure on his trips. He recently returned from a 1500 mile trip into Wisconsin and northern Minnesota with Trixie. Trixie had many friends besides those of her immediate family. Wire hairs are smart dogs and very loyal.

Amboy Murder Made Theme of Story in Current Magazine

A feature article entitled, "Who Killed Olive Derwent? Solving Illinois' Strangest Love Murder," appears in the November issue of the Master Detective magazine, a MacFadden publication, received on local news stands today. The supply of the magazine was exhausted within an hour after being received. The article is written by M. L. Forgy, a young woman feature writer who visited Dixon early last spring obtaining information from Sheriff Ward Miller and others who were close to the Charles Skinner murder trial in the Lee county circuit court. The article is profusely illustrated with pictures of scenes and persons in the murder for which Charles Skinner of Amboy is now serving a life sentence. Skinner was delivered to the Joliet penitentiary but has since been transferred to the new state penitentiary at Menard.

Chicagoan Seeking Theater Location

Bernard Greenbaum of Chicago spent some time with R. A. Rodesch in Dixon yesterday investigating locations for the possible location of another picture theater in this city. The Rodesch property located at 92-24 Galena avenue was favored and measurements and sketches of the buildings were taken to be submitted the architects to draft plans for a small theater. The visitor plans locating a theater with a seating capacity of between 500 and 600 and expects to return to Dixon during the next ten days for a further conference on the proposed site.

Greenbaum said he believed there is a demand for a second and smaller movie house in Dixon which would not injure the existing theater. He added that there are nearly one thousand films produced during a year which provide a wide selection without duplication.

GENUINE "PROSPECTOR"

Kansas City, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Charles Dobson, an ex-convict, told police he was a "gold miner." He "prospected" in some 90 homes, he said, removing several hundred pieces of jewelry, eye glasses, etc. from which he removed the gold and sold it.

Gets Used To It

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The footsteps of men marching past his cell to the electric chair is apparently getting to be an old story to Bruno Hauptmann.

Hauptmann slept soundly last night as John Favorito, 25, walked through the little grey door to his death. Favorito was the fifth inmate to be executed since Hauptmann entered the state prison death house.

35 MILLIONS IS RELEASED TODAY FOR ROAD WORKS

Washington, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The bureau of public roads today released $36,274,750 of work relief funds for highway and grade crossing elimination construction.

The bureau announced that it had approved highway projects from 41 states and the District of Columbia, totalling $27,557,700 from a $200,000,000 allotment. It also approved grade crossing elimination work in 27 states, totalling $8,717,050, from another $200,000,000 allotment.

State quotas from the entire $400,000,000 allotments were assigned several months ago, but work could not start until specific projects had been approved by state works progress administrators and the bureau.

The bureau announced that contracts for highway construction totalling $8,532,412 and grade crossing elimination adding to $2,478,864 had been awarded. Simultaneously, the bureau announced that President Roosevelt had approved programs submitted by four states and the District of Columbia, totalling $6,828,487, for highway and grade crossing elimination. These included the projects already approved by the bureau of public roads, and others not yet cleared.

Uncle Sam Losing Nine and One Half Millions Each Day

Washington, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Uncle Sam dipped his pen in red ink today, and reported his deficit had passed the billion-dollar mark for the present fiscal year.

The treasury in a statement put the deficit at $1,007,457,156 through October 14. This compared with a deficit of $687,211,671 on the comparable date of last year.

At the present rate, the government is operating at a $9,500,000 each day. At this rate, the deficit on June 30 next, would be $3,477,000,000 compared with a $3,281,000,000 revised estimate made public recently. Last January's annual budget message forecast a deficit of $4,528,000,000.

Will Co. Cattle Rustlers Escape

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Suspected cattle rustlers who cut a fence around 80 head of cattle last night at the Nicholas Welter farm in nearby Homer township eluded a posse of 200 farmers.

Welter's son Frank, running a trap-line, frightened a marauder concealed in a weed patch. The prowler ran to an automobile and fled as young Welter fired several shots from a rifle.

Finding the fence cut, Welter called out members of the 2000-man protective association formed by farmers to stop chicken and cattle thefts, but the thieves escaped from the neighborhood.

Deposed Attorney for Hauptmann has Dropped His Suits

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Edward J. Reilly, dismissed chief counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, dropped without explanation today his $22,398 suit "for services" against his former client.

An order of discontinuance, signed by McCarter & English of Newark, Reilly's attorney, and C. Lloyd Fisher, Hauptmann's attorney, was filed in the supreme court.

Reilly, in his suit, listed his fee as $25,000 and added $4,761 for disbursements. He said he had been paid $7,362, leaving a balance due him of $22,398.

Truck and Trailer Turn Over in Ditch

A heavily loaded truck and trailer, south bound, turned over on the Black Hawk trail north of Grand Detour this morning about 7:15 when the driver was reported to have fallen asleep and the truck left the road. He awoke in time to momentarily prevent its turning over in a ditch, but the trailer slid over an embankment, turning over and pulling the truck after it. The trailer was loaded with storage batteries which were scattered about the scene of the wreck, both truck and trailer being considerably damaged, but the driver escaped uninjured.

INSANITY IN HIS FAMILY ZENGE PLEA

Makes No Denial of Emasculation Murder of Love Rival

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Mandeville W. Zenge's attorneys set out today to prove that a dark strain of insanity impelled the Canton, Mo., youth if, as they admit their own evidence may indicate, he mutilated and killed Dr. Walter John Bauer.

The attorneys promised to prove that records of his antecedents for five generations would show that 17 blood relatives went insane—relatives on both sides of the respected Missouri farm family from which Zenge comes.

Zenge will be pictured, said defense attorney Joseph Green in the course of an hour's legal argument in Judge Cornelius J. Harrington's chambers, as a "manic depressive" case.

Mother on Stand
Zenge's mother took the stand briefly to defend her son, charged with murdering the 38-year-old doctor because Bauer married Zenge's childhood sweetheart, pretty Louise Shaffer Bauer.

Green who asked to introduce a chart five feet deep and 12 feet long, picturing the prisoner's family tree, told the judge:

"Six of the 55 persons whose names are shown here were committed to asylums. A seventh was put into a poor farm because of insanity. We will prove by lay evidence that ten more were insane."

To identify the relatives on the big chart, the allegedly insane ones marked by thumbtacks, was the task of Zenge's father, J. Andrew Zenge, senior, respected dairy farmer of Canton.

Mandeville, pictured by other defense witnesses as a youth who sometimes held down three jobs at once, and who hoped to marry Louise as soon as he could save $1,000, appeared on the chart as a jet-black square.

Mother Bewildered
The white-haired mother, in a purple dress and a black hat, seemed bewildered as she took the stand in Judge Cornelius J. Harrington's court, but kept her control until she stepped down.

Then she nearly collapsed in the corridor. The defendant's father, J. Andrew Zenge, Canton, Mo., farmer, supported her until she revived.

Her testimony was part of Zenge's defense, offered through relatives and friends, that the girl's marriage to the doctor drove Zenge temporarily insane.

"Do you have an opinion, based on what you observed after July 14 (date of the marriage), as to the mental condition of your son?" asked Defense Attorney Joseph Green.

Answer Stricken Out
"I felt the shock had been too much for my boy," said Mrs. Zenge. Judge Harrington ordered the answer stricken.

"Do you believe he was sane or insane?" asked Green.

"I could not say," Mrs. Zenge replied.

"No cross examination" announced Prosecutor Charles Dougherty.

Prior to his mother's appearance, friends of the accused paraded through the witness box to describe him as an upright, hard-working youth driven crazy when his pretty sweetheart married Bauer.

A NEW RECIPE.

By Joseph Fort Newton.
An English statesman has been telling us how to be happy, giving us a new recipe. At once we prick up our ears, for who does not want to know the secret of a happy life, if there be any secret?

Three things are necessary for happiness, he tells us. Not only so, but he hints that no matter how rich a man may be in gifts and blessings, he cannot have a lasting happiness without these three things.

What are they? Can any of my readers guess—if so, let them have a try at it. Some would say money, a good home, comfort, books, work, a hobby, health, freedom from the grind, and a lot of other things.

No, happiness, he tells us, cannot depend merely on things, else millionaires and other unfortunates might be reckoned happy. Happiness, to be real, depends not on things but on qualities.

In other words, happiness is not something added to us, but something that proceeds from us. It is not a state of life, but a state of mind, not an outside, but an inside job, and all human facts prove it.

The three things that make for happiness are these: Interest, Enthusiasm and Service. It is a wise recipe, as much for what it omits as for what it includes. If we ponder it a bit it becomes clear.

What is work if we have no interest, no enthusiasm—it is just a dull, deadening grind. The same is true of a hobby, a sport or anything else—if there is no enthusiasm there is no full and happy life.

One may have health, home, money, books, friends and what not, but if he has no vivid interest and no end to serve, it is all in vain. Contentment is not happiness—one is negative, the other positive.

Some folks have all that life can give, and are neither contented nor happy. They are restless, unsatisfied, seeking without finding, going without arriving, trying to find something interesting to live for.

No one can be happy until he finds something to awaken interest and enthusiasm, and give him something to serve besides himself—not if he go to the ends of the earth and back again. How can he find it?

Phidian Club Meeting Tuesday

Historical facts, centuries old, were told in an alluring fashion to the Phidian Art Club yesterday afternoon by Mrs. I. B. Potter in her discussion on "Palestine—From Moses to World War," which she gave at the home of Mrs. W. S. Morris.

Maps and pictures supplemented the talk which covered this epoch-making period.
Mrs. Potter gave a description of Palestine stressing the periods of the Judges and the Kings. This was followed by an account of the Babylonians, Persians, Greeks, many invasions by the Assyrians, Egyptians, Syrians, Romans, Saracens, Turks up to and including the British Mandate.

It was through the influence of Caliph Omar that the magnificent Mohammedan Mosque now stands on the site of the ancient Temple of Solomon.

The Crusaders established western civilization in the east temporarily. Zionists, an international movement for making Palestine the home for the Jews is receiving support from all countries, including the United States. It may be it will offer a place for the blending of the ancient and modern worlds.

Enjoyable Meeting of Riverside P.T.A. at the School

A goodly number of members and friends gathered at Riverside school house on Friday evening, Oct. 11 for the second meeting of the P. T. A.

After the usual opening musical number Mrs. Guntle the president took charge, presiding in her pleasant manner during a short business session.

A very complete and interesting report of the district conference at Stillman Valley Sept. 24 was then given by Mrs. Clifford Floto.

The school children gave the following numbers:
Sing, Ginger Snap—School.
Pledge to the Flag—School.
Music—Russell Renking
Music—Ronald Guntle
Song—(Miss October) — Phyllis Gray.

Music—Roy Whitney
Talk to Jack O'Lantern—Grade II
Pledge to Animals—Grade II
Music—Billie Bieschke
Music—Kenneth Guntle
Reading—Gerald Renking
Music—Phyllis Gray

The program committee, Jess Gray and Frank Floto presented the following:

Mr. Wakenight of Mt. Morris, guitar, and Mr. Renking, violin in several duet numbers.

Mrs. Lambert, the teacher at Stony Point school, gave a most interesting talk on "Newer Methods of Teaching the Three R's."

Briefly her thoughts were as follows:

A teacher must make herself and her work attractive. She must teach the child to appreciate good books and to value the opportunity to use them.

The child is under the teacher's influence five days out of seven. If he succeeds she deserves a large share of credit; if he fails she feels she must also assume her share of blame.

The school is the foundation of our nation. It is right we should adore Abraham Lincoln, but that is not all we should seek to produce leaders, men who can fill as great a place in our day.

It is not the size of the car that counts, it's the power of the motor. After adjournment the hospital committee served candy bars.

VISIT LOWELL PARK NOW, IT WILL PAY YOU—

Fond of Lowell Park—like to go there in the summer when the grass is lush and green and the trees wearing their summer attire? Well if you like it then, drive up there now and you will be given a glorious surprise—for with the trees in colors of yellow and brown and red, the great expanse skirting the river looks like an immense outdoor cathedral, for that is the atmosphere—churchlike and solemn.

Quiet, with nothing but the low, tuneful lap of the waves on the shore and the drifting of a reluctant leaf to its autumnal grave below. Lowell park is lovely and a great boon to tired workers—it invites you and after you are there, will soothe and rest you right now.

The monastery of Debra-Damo, a celebrated Ethiopian monastery is located west of Adigrat.

Another Mellon Gift of Ten Million to Art Gallery

Pittsburgh, Oct. 16—(AP)—Andrew W. Mellon's often expressed dream of an American art gallery to rival the best of the old world has moved nearer its goal with disclosure of a new $10,000,000 gift.

That sum is in addition to the collection of masters which cost the former Secretary of the Treasury $25,000,000 and which are held by the Mellon Public Educational & Charitable Trust.

The trust was organized in 1930 to handle plans for the institution which the Pittsburgh millionaire expects to found in Washington as a gift to the nation.

The deed conveying the $10,000,000 in securities to the trust has been formally filed and in it Mellon instructed that "necessary action" be taken as soon as possible for creation of a "national public art gallery or museum, having as its object the education of the people of the United States in the fine arts and cultural advancement of mankind."

The building to house the almost priceless collection which the 80-year-old financier has sought over a period of years will not bear his name. It would be known as "The National Gallery of Art of the United States" or something similar.

Served With Cream.
Tender, freshly-gathered limas are most delicious served in pure cream. One-half cup cream is seasoned with salt and pepper and added to two cups of cooked limas. Heat to the scalding point, but do not let boil. The cream coats the beans lightly and makes them delightfully moist and smooth.

Always cook limas in as little water as possible and cook them uncovered. Let the water cook away or use it in a sauce with butter and a very little flour rubbed together. Rub 1 teaspoon flour in to 2 tablespoons butter to thicken 1/2 cup liquid.

Lima beans should be salted when they are half cooked. Other-ter of the Order of the Eastern Star of Illinois. Special decorations and arrangements will mark this reception, and no doubt it will prove a great success, giving fitting honors to the Dixon woman holding this high office.

Lima Beans Are Heartier Than Green

BY MARY E. DAGUE

NEA Service Staff Writer
Butter beans we called them at home, though I know there are those who will say that lima and butter beans are not the same thing. But when I was a little girl, we had only butter beans and if they aren't limas, then they are sisters.

The first butter beans, tender, mealy, sauced with cream, butter and a fleck of black pepper were an event with us, and they ought to be with anybody who has a garden. Those who don't, will find them plentiful in the market now, shelled or unshelled. Better buy them in the pod, because their freshness unshelled.

Heartier Than Green Beans.

A heartier food than the green beans of early summer, limas add many calories to the diet, according to the manner of serving. One-fourth cup—four level tablespoons—served lightly seasoned with butter furnishes 100 calories of protein, fat and carbohydrates, while it takes one whole cup, just four times as much, of string or green beans to supply the same amount of food value. The green bean is ahead on vitamins, though.

You will probably find several varieties of lima beans in your market. There are tiny green ones—baby limas—large green ones, flat white ones and large flat white ones. All are good if gathered before the milk becomes firm inside the tender shell-like covering. As the beans ripen this covering grows hard and difficult to digest and the smooth creamy center becomes dry and unpalatable. No matter how long the beans are cooked these conditions cannot be altered nor the vegetable improved.

Beans that have been allowed to become over ripe is to rub them through a sieve after cooking and do them in a puree or soufflé. This removes the tough covering, but, of course, does not restore the delicate flavor of the tender vegetable.

Served With Cream.
Tender, freshly-gathered limas are most delicious served in pure cream. One-half cup cream is seasoned with salt and pepper and added to two cups of cooked limas. Heat to the scalding point, but do not let boil. The cream coats the beans lightly and makes them delightfully moist and smooth.

Lima beans should be salted when they are half cooked. Otherwise there's danger of toughening the covering. Allow thirty to forty minutes for limas to cook and shake the pan occasionally to prevent scorching.

DUTIES OF THE SUPREME COURT

In efforts to discredit the supreme court of the United States and to weaken it in the eyes and hearts of the people, some half-truths and some misconceptions have been spread concerning that department of the government.

One assertion is that the constitution does not expressly give the court the power to declare void the unconstitutional laws passed by a congress.

One answer to that is that while it literally is true, that phase of the constitution was thoroughly discussed in advance of adoption of the instrument by the states.

In that discussion, it was charged by opponents of the new constitution that the proposed court as a separate and independent body would be superior to the legislature with power to construe the laws according to the "spirit" of the constitution and to mold them into whatever shape it might think proper.

It was admitted by the supporters of the constitution that while nothing in the constitutional plan directly empowered the court to construe laws according to the "spirit" of the constitution, that power commonly and customarily goes with a written constitution.

In behalf of that power it was contended that only by so lodging it would the actual division of the government into three departments actually be possible. If the congress could pass a law and then pass on its constitutionality, the judicial department would not be separated from the legislative. Such separation was one of the basic principles upon which the constitutional convention proceeded the principle that has had so much to do with the success of the republican form of government as distinguished from the monarchy on the one hand and the pure democracy on the other.

Added to the fact that such judicial authority and duty attached to a supreme court naturally in connection with a written constitution and in a division of the powers of the government, was the fact that the convention had copied substantially the forms in effect in nine of the thirteen states that would be asked to ratify the new instrument.

When one side charged and the other side admitted in the discussion that the supreme court of the United States would exercise that power by the very nature of its position as a judicial body, it hardly can be said with any sense to it that the court has usurped a power that never was intended for it.

The power is as fundamental as it is for the umpire to overrule the pitcher who throws a ball and declares it a strike. For the congress to pass the laws and then determine their constitutionality is as senseless as for a pitcher to call the balls and strikes while an umpire only looks on powerless while standing behind the pitcher.

The foregoing are not theories or suppositions gained from the past in meager parts. The papers of Alexander Hamilton, James Madison, and John Jay in advocacy of adoption of the constitution are at hand, preserved for all of us. The subject under discussion was handled by Hamilton. The question came up almost in its present day form, as to whether the court should be an independent body or a branch of the legislature. Practices in Great Britain, which did not have a written constitution were confusing some of the people.

Hamilton recited the objections to the proposed court as follows:

The authority of the proposed supreme court of the United States, which is to be a separate and independent body, will be superior to that of the legislature. The power of construing the laws according to the "spirit" of the constitution, will enable that court to mold them into whatever shape it may think proper; especially as its decisions will not be in any manner subject to the revision or correction of the legislative body.

In light of that recital of the objections to the powers now exercised by the court, it can hardly be said that the court is taking to itself powers that the people originally did not intend it to have.

Answering these objections, Mr. Hamilton said:

"I admit, however, that the constitution ought to be the standard of construction for the laws, and that wherever there is an evident opposition, the laws ought to give place to the constitution."

That is the manner in which our government has operated since its adoption. Mr. Hamilton says further: "But this doctrine is not deducible from any circumstance peculiar to the plan of the convention, but from the general theory of a limited constitution; and as far as it is true, is equally applicable to most if not all the state governments. There can be no objection, therefore, on this account, to the federal judiciary which will not lie against the local judiciaries in general, and which will not serve to condemn every constitution that attempts to set bounds to legislative discretion."

In other words, where a constitution sets bounds against a legislative body, somebody besides the violator should be the judge of the violations of those bounds.

So, while it is true that the constitution does not expressly state that the supreme court shall have the power to decide when a president, a congress, a governor, or a state legislature has exceeded his powers under the constitution, it can hardly be said in the light of the foregoing public discussion that the court has usurped a power that never was intended for it.

Objectors charged that it had that power and defenders admitted it. What is there to discuss about it?

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

Poor Duncy was a frightened lad. He shouted, "Oh, I will be glad if my hound gets tired out and has to stop to take a rest."

"He's tearing all around the place and that, of course, has spoiled our race. Wee Duncy has it easy, now, to prove he is the best."

"Somebody catch that crazy cat. In 'bout a minute I'll fall flat. I wish I had the nerve to jump."

"Oh, don't," a Tiny cried. "It's best for you to hang on tight, and maybe all will be all right. Perhaps the cat will see a place where it can run and hide."

"I'll have no chance to find a place," cried Duncy. "I am in this place. Before I'm through I'm going to catch that crazy little cat."

"So far it has avoided me, but it is doomed, as you'll soon see. Don't anybody scare it any more, by yelling 'scat!'"

It was a very funny sight, the way she tried with all her might.

Then came a lucky break. The cat rushed right into her arm, as if to get away from harm. Wee Duncy was so startled that she cried, "For goodness sake."

And then she clung to it, and ran. "I'm going to save you, if I can," she whispered in its fuzzy ear. "Don't try to scramble loose."

"I see a stool. I'll fit in grand. On top of it I'm going to stand. The dog then will stop trying to get you. I'll be of no use."

Her clever act amused the crowd. The dog stopped, short and barked real loud. "Hey, stop it, stop it," Duncy cried. "Enough harm you have done."

Then Duncy said, "Hurray! My ride is over. You have saved my hide. I'll bet the hound thinks all of this was just a lot of fun."

IL DUCE READY FOR EUROPEAN WAR SAYS ALLEN

Former U. S. Senator Interviews Mussolini on Impending War

(Copyright, 1935)

By The Associated Press

Rome, Oct. 16.—Fresh from an interview with Premier Mussolini, former Senator Henry Allen of Kansas announced Il Duce appears to have lost hope of avoiding a European conflict.

The former United States Senator, publisher and observer of international affairs, after talking with Mussolini for half an hour said:

"Apparently he believes frankly that England means war."

Il Duce told Allen in his interview—the former senator's second with Mussolini in eight years—that he appreciated America's neutrality in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

Mussolini was described by Allen as in "fine feather," welcoming his army's political successes among Ethiopian tribesmen.

Claim 20,000 Ethiopians
Government spokesmen said Italy counted 20,000 Ethiopians on its side as the Fascist forces went about clinching their control over the northern area of the empire of Haile Selassie.

These warriors who have surrendered to General Emilio de Bono, commander-in-chief of Italy's East African armies, the spokesman said, would be given a chance to vote for Italian domination of Tigre province and against the reign of the Ethiopian emperor.

The reports of African chieftains and priests throwing their influence to the Italian cause contrasted sharply with Italy's fortunes at Geneva, where a decision to apply financial sanctions brought close a showdown between Italy and the League of Nations.

Mussolini's spokesman insisted he would not worry about sanctions, other than military measures, and that he would remain within the league as long as possible.

May Remain in League
Former Senator Allen attributed to Il Duce himself the assertion that Italy would not leave the league unless military sanctions were imposed.

"In spite of the heavy international threat under which he is proceeding, Il Duce impressed me as being probably the calmest man in the world today," said Allen.

"Apparently he regards the die as cast and has no domestic problem as far as consolidation of his support among the Italian people is concerned."

"He gave me to feel that he does not hope for avoidance of a European war. He continues to assert he will not leave the League of Nations unless military sanctions are employed."

HOME SAFETY IS STRESSED BY RED CROSS

Dixon Chapter Joins Campaign to Reduce Home Accidents

"The Dixon Chapter of the Red Cross launches a campaign to eliminate accident-causing hazards in the home today," it was said by Curtis Gleason, chairman of the local chapter. "It is the chapter's purpose," he said, "to make the homes of this community safe. Home accidents are due to carelessness, negligence and lack of knowledge and most of them are preventable."

According to Mr. Gleason millions of people are injured in the home each year. Last year more than 34,000 were killed and the number permanently disabled by accidents occurring in the home ran into six figures. "People do not realize that the home is not safe," he stated, "and it is the purpose of this Red Cross program to correct this erroneous belief, to point out common and uncommon home hazards and show how each may be eliminated and to conduct an actual inspection of the homes of this community."

A program of this nature, Mr. Gleason pointed out, is of necessity largely educational in character. The Dixon Chapter will campaign against disinterest and fallacy through the medium of the written and spoken word. A comprehensive public speaking schedule is being arranged in an intensive effort to make children and parents aware of the very real danger which lurks in the home itself. The generous cooperation of newspapers and various publications have been enlisted. Individuals, civic and social clubs and business groups are being contacted. Many have already pledged their willingness to help the Red Cross to minimize home accidents and the close cooperation of the local branches of these organizations is anticipated.

Home Inspection.

"Special home inspection forms have been prepared," Mr. Gleason said, "and are to be introduced into the homes here through the children in our schools. Arrangements have been made with school superintendents, principals and teachers so that school children will receive these blanks, take them home and conduct an actual inspection of the home to eliminate accident causing hazards with the help of parents or relatives and return the blanks to the school, where they will be forwarded to the Red Cross for compilation of statistics to indicate what type of home accident hazard is most prevalent."

The local Red Cross states that the committee in charge of this special program will be chairmaned by Mr. Gleason. Other members of the committee are as follows: Miss Frances Patrick, Sec.; A. H. Lancaster, L. W. Miller.

This home safety campaign, it is understood, will also include farm safety and safety while at work on the farm. Because of the inaccessibility of farms and the difficulty of securing accident statistics pertaining to them, little safety pioneering has been done in this direction.

"Preventing unnecessary death and alleviating human misery," said Mr. Gleason, "is a chartered obligation of the Red Cross, and home safety," he said, "is a natural outgrowth of First Aid, a Red Cross service which has been in effect for some 25 years and is annually responsible for saving many lives."

"The accident prevention campaign," he said, "will be carried out on a nation-wide scale and each of the nearly 13,000 Red Cross chapters and branches will play a part."

Mr. Gleason indicated that the campaign would not be an intensive affair of a few months which would subsequently be dropped, but rather, would be a continuing year-by-year program to prevent unnecessary deaths and accidents in the home and on the farm.

The Red Cross believes that knowledge of first aid will do much to prevent home accidents. A person instructed in first aid is accident conscious; and certainly, when an accident does occur in the home, the practical application of first aid knowledge may prevent a minor injury from crippling, a serious injury from killing.

LIBERALS WIN CONTROL CANADIAN PARLIAMENT

Oust Conservatives in Monday's Election in Dominion

Ottawa, Oct. 16—(AP)—Canada's Liberal party, out of office five years, swept back today into control of the House of Commons with the most decisive election victory in the country's history.

The majority of the Conservative government, led by Premier R. B. Bennett, was wiped out by a wave of anti-administration votes.

New parties made a dismal showing, but in the west the Social Credit group won more than a dozen Parliament seats, most of them from Alberta, birthplace of the party.

An incomplete unofficial count showed the Liberals would have the largest home majority any party ever had in Canada. They were assured of 165 seats out of the 245 at stake.

The Conservatives had won 41, in contrast to the 113 they enjoyed when Parliament was dissolved in August, the Social Creditists 13, the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation, a Socialist group new in national politics, 7, the Liberal Progressives, 1; the New Reconstructionists party 1; the Independent Liberals 4, and the United Farmer-Laborites 1.

One plank in the platform of MacKenzie King, leader of the Liberals and a grandson of a participant in the "rebellion" of 1837, was a proposal for a reciprocal trade agreement with the United States.

WAR WITH GREAT BRITAIN NOT TO STOP MUSSOLINI

Even European Conflict Will Not Turn Italy From East Africa

Rome, Oct. 16—(AP)—A government spokesman stated today that Italy was well aware of Premier Laval's efforts for a peaceful settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, but doubted that the French statesman would succeed.

Italian officials were in agreement with Premier Mussolini's determination to conquer Ethiopia, no matter what happens.

As for the campaign in East Africa, it went ahead while authorities stated that Italy's willingness to refrain from bombing Addis Ababa, the capital, depended entirely upon the Ethiopians.

It was stated that this answer had been sent to the diplomatic representatives of foreign governments stationed in Addis Ababa who had interceded on behalf of their legations and nationals in the mountain city.

The government spokesman said that Italy was not a party to any peace negotiations and had made no compromise offers to anyone.

Make No Predictions

Spokesmen, steering carefully away from any predictions of a conflict with Great Britain, said today that "even a European war" would fail to turn Italy from its East African course.

Against a background of press dispatches telling of continued air bombings of Ethiopian military points, a government official said Italy at present would make no offers of terms to end the campaign of occupation.

He persisted in a belief that the rest of the world would swing around to Italy's viewpoint that the invasion of Ethiopia was justified. Until that time, he said, Italy was prepared to resist League of Nations pressure.

Ready For Anything

Commenting on the observation of former Senator Henry Allen of Kansas, after an interview with Mussolini, that Il Duce apparently feels "England means war," Italian press sources said Italy was ready for such an eventuality.

Shopkeepers, foreseeing economic sanctions by the league, accepted them in advance as a Fascist duty to be borne if Mussolini said the word.

A more warlike manifestation appeared at Naples, which already is accustomed to seeing trim bombers slung aboard transports for shipment to East Africa and overseas troops wave farewells and embark for colonial service.

Mock Air Raid Defense

A more warlike manifestation appeared at strategic port last night as street lights were dimmed and automobiles moved slowly with eerie blue headlights showing through paper shields.

While the civilian populace participated in this dramatic display of defense training, 329 soldiers and 56 officers sailed for East Africa aboard the steamer Italia, which was to pick up 679 more troops at Messina, Sicily.

The cavalry unit of the U. S. army at Fort Russell, Tex., now is motorized. This is the first and most famous cavalry unit in the United States.

Bowling Green, Ky., Oct. 16—(AP)—Major General William L. Sibert, 75, soldier and engineer, famed for his services in the construction of the Panama Canal, died at his country home four miles from here today after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held here at 1 P. M. tomorrow after which the body will be taken to Washington, D. C., for burial in Arlington National Cemetery Friday.

General Sibert had been in a critical condition for some time from complications incident to his age. Born Oct. 12, 1860, in Etowah County, Alabama, he observed his 75th birthday last Saturday.

Sibert had a notable career as an engineer and soldier in the service of his country extending over a period of forty years. The government recognized his services in connection with the construction of the Panama Canal when in 1915 he was made a brigadier general and at the same time received the thanks of Congress.

When the United States entered the World War General Sibert was selected for overseas duty and placed in command of the First Division of the American Expeditionary Forces. Here again his services merited recognition by his government, which conferred upon him the distinguished service cross. That assignment, carried with it a particular satisfaction for the general because it enabled him to continue unbroken the war record of his forebears, that of having fought in every war in which the United States had participated from the early Indian battles.

Was Scotch-Irish

General Sibert was of Scotch-Irish descent. His father was William Joshua Sibert, a farmer and merchant living near Gadsden, Ala., and his mother was Marietta Ward Sibert. After spending two years at the University of Alabama General Sibert was appointed a cadet at the United States Military Academy at West Point. With his graduation in 1884 he was assigned to the Engineer Corps as a second lieutenant and was promoted through the various grades of commissioned officers until 1917, when he was raised to the rank of major general for his assignment as a divisional commander in France. He was retired in 1920.

In the autumn of 1887 General Sibert married Miss Mary Margaret Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Cummings, at Brownsville, Tex. To them were born five sons and a daughter. All of the former served their country during the World War, four as commissioned officers and the other as a corporal.

Began Study Early

It may be said of General Sibert that he began the study of engineering science when he was a boy on his father's farm in Alabama. The one thing about the entire establishment that caught the boy's fancy was the big water wheel which served to furnish power for the grist mill on the banks of a small stream that ran through the farm. He spent hours studying the intricacies of the operation until he finally mastered and was able to explain the principle involved.

Supplementing his studies at West Point General Sibert took a three-year course at the Engineer School of Application and then received his first government assignment as assistant engineer on river work in Kentucky. From 1892 to 1894 he was in charge of the construction of the ship channel connecting the Great Lakes and then was transferred as general manager and chief engineer of the Manila and Dagupan railroad. At the same time he served as chief engineer of the Fifth Army Corps.

During the next seven years General Sibert was in charge of engineering in river and harbor districts in this country with headquarters at Louisville and Pittsburgh. The success with which he completed his assignments up to that time led to his appointment in 1907 as a member of the Isthmian Canal Commission and incidentally to the most important engineering work of his career.

At Canal Seven Years

General Sibert was engaged in the Canal Zone for seven years, during which he built the Gatun locks and dam, the west breakwater in Colon Harbor and supervised the excavation of the canal from Gatun to the Atlantic Ocean. It was for this work that he was thanked by Congress and raised to the rank of brigadier general. There followed an assignment under the joint auspices of the American Red Cross and the Chinese government, which placed General Sibert as chairman of the board of engineers dealing with the flood prevention problems of the Hwai River Valley in China.

After General Sibert returned from his war service in France he was placed in charge of Southeastern department of the army with headquarters at Charleston, S. C. He remained in that command only five months when the government again called upon him for an important task—the organization of the Chemical Warfare Service of the United States Army.

He continued as director of that service until two months before his retirement.

Alabama took advantage of General Sibert's engineering skill and experience after his retirement from government service calling upon him in 1924 to take charge of its scheme for the development of the port of Mobile. The work involved an investment of $10,000,000 and was completed with the energy and dispatch which had marked all of the general's engineering jobs.

In addition to the honors bestowed upon him by his own government, General Sibert was made a commander of the Legion of Honor of France and received the degrees of doctor of engineering from the University of Nebraska and honorary doctor of laws from the University of Alabama. He was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

DAILY HEALTH

'STARVING' CHILDREN

The child suffers most when subjected to absolute or relative starvation.

The mature person, when denied adequate food, can draw upon his reserves, and in the extreme case, can live for a while at least on his own tissues. But with the child, the case is more complicated, since he must not only maintain life but also must meet the requirements of growth.

The growth of the infant and child is not a matter of quantitative increase only. He does not simply "grow bigger" all over at the same rate. The child, and most particularly the infant, undergoes a "differential growth."

Even the basic growth of the child is not completed at the time of its birth. Bones must be built to take the place of cartilage (gristle), and most important of all, the basic pattern of the nervous system must be completed.

It is easy to understand, then, that starvation must interfere. If not render impossible, the developmental growth of the child. Very few children and infants actually starve—that is, suffer a want of bulk food. Many do suffer relative starvation in the sense that their diet does not include essential food elements, notably mineral salts and vitamins.

What such "starvation" may effect in the young animal has been experimentally tested by Professor Mellanby of England. Working with young rabbits he was able to show that as a result of being fed a diet deficient in vitamin A, they suffered degenerative changes in their nervous system, leading to a variety of symptoms.

Applying these experiments to human beings, Professor Mellanby states "the fact that degenerative changes are more easily produced in young animals than in old suggests that these nutritional factors play a large part in determining the structural development of the nervous system, either as a whole, or in part, in early life and even in the foetus."

This emphasizes the importance of proper food for both the child and for mothers during pregnancy.

Death of American Woman in China is Mystery to Police

Nanking, China, Oct. 16—(AP)—The American embassy has requested the Chinese government to exert every effort to apprehend persons responsible for the death of Dr. Susan Waddell, a former resident of Berkeley, Calif., whom police said had been slain.

An autopsy today confirmed the belief the woman, who was last seen alive riding in a ricksha at 6:30 Monday, died of strangulation in a ditch yesterday.

Police said they inclined to the belief robbery was the motive of the killing, as some money and a watch were missing when the body was found.

Police surmised the body had been carried from the scene of the slaying in an automobile or a ricksha and tossed into the ditch in the center of the city formed by high railway embankments.

She had been giving lectures on psychology and hygiene at the National Health Administration and Central University here.

State Conference on Welfare Meets in East St. Louis

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 16—(AP)—Problems and obligations to be faced in the improvement of adverse social conditions will be studied at the 40th annual session of the Illinois Conference on Social Welfare at East St. Louis, October 28 to 31.

Study courses on case work, needs of youth, health problems in social work, and public welfare administration will be conducted during the conference for persons engaged in any form of social service work.

A large number of social workers, county judges, probation officers, relief administrators, representatives of private welfare agencies and public welfare officials are expected to attend.

UNITED STATES ASKED TO STOP ITALY IMPORTS

Attitude of Other Non-League Nations Asked by Britain

Paris, Oct. 16—(AP)—Officials disclosed today that France and Great Britain are asking Washington if the United States is willing to restrict its imports from Italy in case such a sanction against Premier Mussolini's nation is applied by the League of Nations.

These same authorities also stated that a similar question is being asked of other powers, including Germany, Japan, and Brazil, which are not members of the league.

It was stated that the exploration is being conducted through the ambassadors of those nations. The attitudes of the non-member countries is sought because of the fact that Yugoslavia, Austria, Spain and certain other countries, including the Scandinavian, are regarded as opposed to the plan for a restriction on purchases from Italy.

May Strengthen Pact

France and Great Britain were reported unofficially to be considering strengthening the pact of Locarno as the tenth anniversary of its signing found Europe anxious over the question of sanctions against Italy.

A gloomy outlook for Laval's previous efforts to bring Italy, Britain and Ethiopia together in a peaceful settlement of the East African conflict was reported in official circles.

"The prospect for conciliation is bad," said one official, indicating Laval failed to receive any encouragement in his talks this week with the Italian and British ambassadors to Paris.

A report that Britain was inclining toward a process of automatic aid for France under the Locarno pact without awaiting a League of Nations definition of the aggressor in case France was attacked by Germany, was published in the newspaper L'Oeuvre.

France long has been trying to obtain such an agreement under the series of diplomatic instruments for peace and arbitration, drawn up at Locarno in 1925.

PEACE TALK PERSISTS.

London, Oct. 16—(AP)—Rumors of secret negotiations to end the Italo-Ethiopian war persisted in London today.

Morning papers presented such news under page-wide headlines, but the man in the street was confused by reiterated denials of peace conversations.

Premier Laval of France, rumor said, had appealed to Great Britain for withdrawal of the British fleet from the Mediterranean Sea as a gesture of peaceful intention toward Italy. Foreign offices in London and Paris, however, pleaded ignorance of any such moves.

Laval's hopes for peace were not bolstered by unconfirmed reports of what Premier Baldwin of Great Britain told two deputations of legislators he received prior to yesterday's cabinet meeting.

Representing Conservative members of the House of Commons and the press, the deputations sought from Baldwin some assurance that Great Britain would not be dragged into war.

It was understood that Baldwin and Lord Stanhope, under secretary for foreign affairs, talked with them for an hour and 10 minutes and pledged them to strictest secrecy.

The political writer of the Daily Express said the Premier refused to give the two groups assurance the government would not associate itself with any policy likely to lead to war.

DEATH OF SAM HARDY RUINED CANTOR MOVIE

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 16—(AP)—Sam Hardy, veteran actor of the stage and screen, died in Hollywood hospital early today after an emergency operation for an abdominal ailment.

The 52-year-old player, best known for his humorous, gambler-type portrayals, collapsed on a studio yesterday as he made up for scenes in an Eddie Cantor picture.

Cantor and Norman Taurig, the director rushed him to the hospital, where it was decided to operate for an intestinal obstruction.

The actor's wife and two friends of the family were at the bedside when death came.

As a result of his collapse and death, Samuel Goldwyn, the producer, said much of the Cantor picture completed so far will be scrapped, because Hardy appeared in most of the scenes.

Hardy, a native of New Haven, Conn., had many years of stage experience before he entered the movies with the old Lubin film company.

GEN. FOREMAN OFFICER IN 3 WARS, IS DEAD

Chicago, Oct. 16—(AP)—Milton J. Foreman, 72, war time commander of the 122nd Field Artillery regiment and a prominent Chicago attorney, died at his home today.

General Foreman suffered a stroke of apoplexy yesterday morning.

The citizen-soldier was at one time Major General in command of the 33rd Division, Illinois National Guard. He was placed on the retired list of the state militia in 1927. He was one of the organizers of the American Legion and active in the early development of the national and state organizations.

His death was announced by Dr. Charles Schott. Dr. Schott and three sisters of General Foreman, Estelle, Blanche and Agnes were present when death came.

Foreman was admitted to the bar in 1898.

In 1895 he entered the National Guard as a private. During the Spanish American War he was a captain and in the Mexican War he commanded the regiment, as a Colonel. During the World War he commanded a division in the St. Michel and Meuse-Argonne fronts.

Congressmen Leave for Philippines to See Birth of Nation

Seattle, Oct. 16—(AP)—A party of congressmen, headed by Vice-President John N. Garner, sail today for the Philippines to act as official observers at the birth of a new nation.

On Nov. 15 they will attend the inauguration of Manuel Quezon as first president of the Philippine commonwealth which will rule the islands for a 10-year interlude between American rule and complete independence.

"President McKinley told the world that we would liberate the Philippines," Garner commented on the United States' promises after the Spanish-American War. "We are now doing what he said we would. I am a man who believes in keeping my word."

A public reception for the vice-president, senators, representatives and government officials was set for 10 A. M. an hour before the sailing of the liner President Grant. The program called for speeches by members of the party over a national broadcast.

BORDER CITIES FEAR MEXICAN REBEL RAIDERS

Nogales, Agua Prieta Tighten Defenses as Attacks Spread

Nogales, Sonora, Mex., Oct. 16—(AP)—Officials of Nogales and Agua Prieta, important border cities, tightened defenses today against possible attacks by rebel raiders who have slain at least nine persons in recent weeks.

Agua Prieta mustered its few Federal soldiers and stationed them at strategic points. Deputized citizens and police took over abandoned trenches outside the town, guarding all approaches.

An all night watch was maintained here by authorities, who disclosed Mayor Enrique Aguayo had been warned by the raiders that they would attack the town.

At Santa Ana, where the mayor and the chief of police were killed Monday by raiders, residents armed themselves with all available weapons. Reports of raids on several nearby ranches lent credence to rumors that the band was encamped within striking distance of the city.

Americans Released

In Mexico City, a government official minimized the Sonora insurgent movement in confirming previous reports that five prominent Americans whose hunting firearms were seized by the rebels, had been released unharmed.

Although the Americans have not returned to the border, various sources have reported them as safe. Members of the party are J. H. Durrell, vice president of the National City Bank, New York; James Bruce, vice president of the National Dairy Products Co., New York; Lee Paul, Wheeling, W. Va., insurance executive; Jack Durrell, San Francisco representative of the Chase National Bank, and Dr. W. S. Fulton, Wheeling.

(Telegraph Special Service)

Compton, Oct. 16.—It took thirteen innings of heads-up baseball for West Brooklyn to defeat Compton here Sunday afternoon by a score of 2 to 1.

The game was arranged by Manager George Webber as a reception for LeRoy Herrmann, known to be the only player from Lee County in the major leagues today, dividing his pitching on nearly as possible to a fifty-fifty proposition, starting for Compton, deserting in the sixth for West Brooklyn, to finish the 13th inning game. A capacity crowd was present to witness the game, along with ideal weather conditions, the guest of the day was given a big hand by his many followers, as Umpire Webber announced the batteries.

Howard Herrmann who has carried the burden of the Compton Oilers pitching assignments for the past season started for West Brooklyn. LeRoy showed the local fans some very good pitching, in his delivery and control, and was able to retire twenty via the strikeout route. LeRoy plans to leave with Mrs. Herrmann for the west coast shortly in his new car, which he hopes to acquire this week.

First score of the game came in the fifth, when Howard Herrmann drove a Texas leaguer into left field, scoring Grove, who had singled, and stole to second. West Brooklyn evened the count in the eighth, when LeRoy Herrmann nipped Brother Howard for a double, and R. Challand singled to let the former score. Prestegard came from short to relieve Howard Herrmann on the mound in the eighth.

The winning run was scored in the thirteenth inning, when Webb Challand was called safe at first on a wide throw from short by Smith. Frost next up took a goodly cut at Prestegard delivery and sank a triple out into right field on practically end the ball game.

Four-Way Tie For Leadership Honor

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP.)—A four-way deadlock for leadership held the Illinois intercollegiate football scoring race today, with a 12-point total the highest mark for individual efforts.

Roger Stevenson, Knox, in a tie for the top position, was the only man to score in more than one game. Carl Burgner, Millikin; Louis Trakas, Northern Teachers; and Norman Dahlgren, Augustana, have all scored twice in single games.

Lloyd Geiger, Carthage, and Edward Galassi, western Teachers, have scored seven points each to edge in ahead of a field of 15 who have accounted for single touchdowns.

Vanderbilt Champ Seeks More Riches At Suffolk Downs

Boston, Oct. 16.—(AP.)—Discovery, A. G. Vanderbilt's crack handicap champion, seeks added riches today.

Entered in the $25,000 added Massachusetts handicap at Suffolk Downs Discovery matches speed with an old rival, A. A. Baroni's Top Row, victor in a previous encounter with the Vanderbilt ace in August at Narragansett park.

The four-year-old son of Display drew a 138-pound impost while Top Row was assigned 116, six more pounds than he carried in his Narragansett victory. Then, Discovery carried 139 pounds.

The recent winner of the Hawthorne Gold Cup at Chicago starts with eight others, Baroni's Ann O'Riley at 116, Hal Price Headley's three year old whopper, In Light with 108, and Time Supply, Stand Pat, Count Arthur, Howard, Kievex and Patchpocket.

ARMY-HARVARD GAME RENEWS OLD RIVALRY

Army Has Failed to Beat Harvard at West Point

New York, Oct. 16.—It ought to be a whale of a melee in the Yale Bowl Saturday when the Navy attacks one of the sharpest biting Bulldogs in recent years.

That Yale team showed last week it can play football when it came back in a wild second half surge to overcome the mighty men of Penn. Navy doesn't shape up as a slouch, either.

Navy has beaten three teams by wide margins, starting off with a 30-0 conquest over William and Mary, then beating Mercer 27-0 and Virginia 26-7. The Navy has three complete teams to call on, two with heavy duty backfields and the third of the "pony" type. Each backfield has a ten second man and each boasts a pitcher who can throw strikes with the oval.

Meanwhile Saturday, Yale's traditional rival, Harvard, will be at West Point opposing Navy's arch antagonist, Army. Army never has beaten Harvard at West Point in their 40 years of rivalry and Rick Harlow, Harvard's new head coach, doesn't relish the idea of being the first to lead a Harvard team to defeat there.

OHIO STATE IS FAVORED OVER THE WILDCATS

Bucks Still Out of Breath From the Drake Rout

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP.)—The figures add up to a four touchdown victory for Ohio State over Northwestern Saturday according to Coach Lynn Waldorf of the Wildcats, but he "aims to be shown" nevertheless.

"After listening to Burt Ingwersen (Northwestern's line coach) make his scouting report of the Ohio State-Drake game and from what I have read about the Ohio team, they figure to be about four touchdowns better than we are," Waldorf said. "Apparently they have everything a great football team needs—in quantity."

"But the game is on the schedule, and we aim to be shown."

Waldorf put his team to work on defensive measures yesterday after Ingwersen reported that Ohio State had "one of the greatest teams I have ever seen—three deep at each position and each new man about as good as the man before him."

The Buckeye squad, perhaps still a little out of breath from rolling up 13 touchdowns, 39 first downs and 887 yards in crushing Drake, 85 to 7, Saturday, got off with a light signal drill.

Purdue vs. Chicago.
Both Purdue and Chicago, which tangle in championship warfare at Chicago this week, were rushed through long drills.

Highly encouraged by Saturday's victory over Indiana, its first conference triumph since 1933, Michigan was given a batch of new plays for use against Wisconsin in the third game of the conference lineup. Seeking more attacking speed, Coach Harry Kipke shifted Chester Stabowitz, an end candidate, to the backfield.

The Badger regulars rested while Coach "Doc" Spears devoted special attention to Emmet Mortell, quarterback, who reported late. Mortell, a promising back as a sophomore last year, probably will see a lot of service against the Wolverines.

Indiana's Hoosiers got no rest. Coach Bo McMillin sending all hands, except George Fowler, sophomore back and Ettore Antonini, veteran end, through a long workout on every angle of the game. Fowler and Antonini suffered slight injuries at Michigan, but probably will be ready for duty against Cincinnati this week.

Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois, the latter squad en route from Los Angeles to Champaign, drew the customary Monday rest assignments.

Rains Needed For Duck Season Say Anxious Hunters

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP.)—Duck hunters studied weather forecasts today with one eye on the calendar. The hunting season opens Oct. 21 and unless plentiful rains fall soon, they predict, the prospects for the short season are poor.

The bottomlands in the Illinois river duck sections were described as almost as dry as Michigan boulevard. With a liberal rain fall, however, hunters said, the mallards and pintails would find excellent feeding grounds in the state.

PROS WARM UP FOR NATIONAL P. G. A. TOURNEY

Runyan Says Links Require Great Accuracy

Oklahoma City, Oct. 16.—(AP.)—The nation's professional golf stars, here for the National P. G. A. tournament, took their final warm-up today on a course that commanded respect for its exactness.

The general opinion of the Twin Hills course, over which the battle for the professional crown starts tomorrow was summed up by Paul Runyan, the defending champion.

"I enjoyed it very much," said the 140-pound package of golfing dynamite after turning in a 71, one over par. "It is all a matter of direction. It is a very tight course, not long, but it requires great accuracy."

The tree studded course echoed today with the clacking of club on ball as the big shots of goldfom got in their final practice ticks.

There were all the big names in golf—Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Leo Diegel, Horton Smith, Johnny Revolta, Milwaukee; Craig Wood, Deal, N. J.; Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., the nation's low scorer for the year, and a host of others.

FOXX RUMORED INVOLVED IN INDIAN DEAL

Red Sox Is Believed Also Seeking A's Batter

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—(AP.)—The baseball air was thick today with new talk that Jimmy Foxx may be doing his slugging for another club than the Athletics next year.

The rumors—quiet for 24 hours since the report started circulating that the burly infielder would go to the Cleveland Indians in a three-cornered deal involving also the Boston Red Sox—started up again with the announcement that Connie Mack has acquired a star first-sacker from the coast league.

There was no word from Mack—not only because he is out of town, but also for the reason that the A's veteran pilot never talks about those things, until he's ready to.

Foxx, himself, just smiles when you ask him how he'd like wearing different livery.

But the fact remains that Mack, although he has Jimmy as a capable first baseman and hitter extraordinary, has obtained another guardian for the initial sack—Jim Ogleby, of Los Angeles, who hit for 365 during the 1935 campaign and averaged better than 300 in his three year coast stay. Formerly with the Western Association, Ogleby was picked up by the A's for the usual draft price, $7500.

NOTRE DAME IS CHAFING FOR PITT SCALPS

Wildcats Look Very Poor Against Ohio's Plays Tuesday

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP.)—Along with being out to win on general principles, Notre Dame's football warriors are nursing a special yearning to whip Pittsburgh Saturday at South Bend.

The Panthers, by winning their last three encounters, already hold a modern record for their dealings with the Irish. No other team has been able to take Notre Dame three times hand running since the South Bend eleven became a ranking gridiron power. In addition, on the basis of early returns, the Panthers rank with Ohio State as the cream of Notre Dame's schedule.

Not only have the Irish lost their three most recent tussles with Pitt, but haven't even scored a point. With Johnny Michuta, his star right tackle, gone for the season because of recurrence of an old head injury, Coach Elmer Layden is working like a beaver to repair his line. Harry Becker, first string substitute for Michuta last year, who has been playing right guard this season, has been moved to the tackle post. Jim Martin, a "watch charm" lineman, will take over Becker's old position. Layden's younger brother, Mike, injured in the Carnegie Tech game, returned yesterday and may be ready to take a turn at right half-back against Pitt.

Light Workout.
Over in the Big Ten yesterday, Ohio State had a comparatively light workout of dummy scrimmaging, kicking and passing drill and signal practice. The big bad Buckeye's foe of Saturday, Northwestern's Wildcats, worked on defense against Ohio formations and didn't do very well.

NATION'S STAND ON NEUTRALITY SEEN WORLD LAW

One of Two Theories on Peace Which Will Be Adopted by Others

Washington, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The possibility that this nation's policy in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict may write a new page in international law is entertained by some experts. Saying that in the past America has often been a leader in setting forth the position of neutrals, officials of the American Society on International Law asserted nations now are confronted with two theories for maintaining peace.

George A. Finch, a secretary of the society, defined these as (1) The League of Nations theory that "there should be no such thing as neutrality" and that all nations should band together against an aggressor, and (2) The American policy that a nation may enforce its neutrality by arms embargoes and by requiring that its citizens trade with belligerents only at their own risk.

One of Two Theories

One of these theories, he said, eventually will be written into international law. He added:

"International law is now in a period of transition. Whether the United States policy will ultimately be recognized by other nations as the accepted stand of a neutral will depend upon what eventually happens to the League."

America first ignored neutrality precedent when George Washington enunciated the policy that a neutral was entitled to freedom of the seas in trading with belligerents Finch said. He added that Great Britain and other nations later adopted the same view.

Other nations also copied the American neutrality policy of prohibiting enlistments in this country for foreign armies.

VANDENBERG APPROVES

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, home from a vacation in Europe, suggested today that the United States' neutrality policy be made "more emphatic."

But the Michigan Republican warned against considering the nation's new, mandatory formula with its arms export ban as a buttress to League of Nations sanctions.

Expressing "complete agreement" with the policy as proclaimed by the president, he said in a statement:

"If anything, I would make it more emphatic. It may deny us an expression of our natural sympathies in a given dispute, but it substantially insulates us against dreadful consequences which otherwise could embroil us again in alien wars. The loss of incidental commerce is infinitely less important than the maintenance of American peace."

Vandenberg, who has been mentioned in discussions of Republican presidential timber, said in a shipboard interview:

"I am not a candidate for anything on earth."

American importations of Japanese textiles amounted to 30,300 square yards in January, 1934. In January, 1935, this had increased to 12,000,000 square yards.

PAW PAW NEWS

By Mrs. John Ulrey

Paw Paw—Arthur Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Edwards of 212 N. Chester street, Sparta, Ill., and grandson of Mrs. Martha Edwards of Paw Paw has been awarded a two year honor entrance scholarship to the University of Chicago according to an announcement made by the university officials.

The award valued at $600 was granted to Edward in recognition of the qualities of character, leadership and achievement in studies as evidenced by his records in the Sparta high school from which he was recently graduated. The two year honor awards granted by the University of Chicago to entering freshmen are the most coveted of all entrance awards and are sought by applicants from all parts of the nation. The university's committee on the award of scholarships was impressed by the fact that in addition to maintaining the ninth highest scholastic average in a graduating class of 119, Edwards distinguished himself in the field of extra curricular activities. He was a four year letter winner in football and track, a member of the year book staff, Hi-Y, a leading debater and a member of the school band. With the intention of ultimately doing research work in chemistry Edwards will enter the University of Chicago this autumn as a student under the new plans of education. The new plan, now entering the fifth year of operation, aims to familiarize the student with the whole realm of human knowledge. By discarding many of the traditional forms of educational compulsion such as class attendance, the new plan encourages individual initiative and allows exceptional students to progress as rapidly as they wish.

Final Weekly Crop Report is Issued by State

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The weather bureau, in the last of its weekly crop reports for the 1935 season in Illinois, today said:

"While some corn has been picked, generally it is still to soft and in many areas the weather was none too favorable for good drying. Much of the corn that was injured by the recent freeze is being fed to stock or being placed in silos. While cutting of corn is largely completed, that work continues in some localities. Soy beans were being rapidly harvested, mostly with combines."

"Much plowing was done and winter wheat sown during the week, but moisture conditions are generally insufficient for best germination and growth, plowing is being hindered in places and in some scattered localities the ground is very dry. Good rains would generally be very beneficial to winter grains."

Friday, a number of friends and neighbors motored to the old Cobb farm nine miles northwest of Paw Paw to spend the day with Mrs. Mary Walters. With Mrs. Bada Edwards as leader, the company arrived at noon and proceeded to enjoy a delicious dinner which was brought along by the self invited guests. Those present were Mrs. Sue Ward, Mrs. Grace Clemons, Mrs. Ethel Bolsh, Mrs. Hazel Hof, Mrs. Bada Edwards and Miss Rosa Valentine. A jolly good time was had by all.

Mrs. George Valentine and Leslie Valentine and family of Hinckley spent last Sunday with Miss Rosa Valentine.

Kenneth Rosette, son of Mrs. Viola Rosette has gone to Los Angeles to attend the National college of electricity.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Tyreman and son Earl were dinner guests Sunday of Mrs. Inez Rafferty and children. The occasion was the anniversary of Mrs. Tyreman's birthday. The dinner was complete with a nice birthday cake and the children presented Mrs. Tyreman with a nice gift.

A meeting of Alumni football players who plan to compete against Dixon high school's eleven, Armistice day, in the concluding game of the high school gridiron season, will be held in the carrier boys' room at the Telegraph tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The Alumni held their first practice Sunday on the high school field. This year three year men will be eligible to don uniforms for the game. In the past the two year rule has held.

New equipment for the manufacture of metal caskets has been installed at the A. N. Boyd casket factory here, the expansion indicating that business of this valuable Dixon asset is improving also.

All styles of high grade metal caskets are now manufactured by the factory. Several of the latest lines in the factory stock include caskets of rustless steel, copper and bronze. The factory also specializes in the use of cypress for their wooden caskets. Cypress is a wood so durable that water tanks built of cypress on the Rock River farm near this city have lasted one hundred years and are still giving excellent service. Cypress, a wood native to tropical and semi-tropical regions is found in the Old South and Central America.

The Dixon factory is now carrying from seventy-five to one hundred caskets on display and also deals in steel vaults. From four to six salesmen are on the road constantly covering the trade territory which includes northern Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and southeastern Minnesota.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JEAN DUNN, secretary to DONALD MONTAGUE, lawyer, delays her answer when BOBBY WALLACE, young automobile salesman, asks Jean to marry him. At the Golden Feather night club Jean meets SANDY HARRIS, whose business connection is vague. She also meets LARRY GLENN, federal agent. Larry is trying to locate WINCEY LEWIS, bank robber.

A few days later Sandy learns police are looking for him in connection with a robbery. He considers this to Jean and she goes with him to police headquarters to establish an alibi for him at the time of the holdup.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

JEAN DUNN sat down on the bench and looked doubtfully at her employer. But of course! He was Sandy's lawyer, naturally, since Sandy wanted to clear up this absurd misunderstanding. Mr. Montague had come along, just to make sure everything went right.

Mr. Montague beamed at her. "It's all pretty absurd, of course," he said. "But sometimes these absurd mistakes can cause a great deal of trouble before they are straightened out. . . . Ah, there's Inspector Thomas. Shall we go in?"

He got up and walked through a swinging gate and he was half-railling which cut the room in half. Sandy helped Jean to her feet, drew her hand through his arm, and followed; behind them came the other man who had been sitting with Mr. Montague when they came in. Jean stole a look at him; he was a stubby, roughly-dressed person, and he hadn't taken the trouble to shave himself that morning. His face was vaguely familiar.

Former Pastor Dies.

Miss Adella Helmershausen received the following letter Friday:

"October 9, 90 Elm St.
Montclair, New Jersey.
'Dear Friend: It is not easy to send you the news, just now at conference time, that my husband, the Rev. George M. Bassett, has gone to the long, long journey that we must all take. He was within two months of his 86th birthday anniversary. He passed away September 24th suddenly at the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago. You may make such note of this as you see fit for the papers. Your jubilee paper was quite welcome. Mrs. G. M. Bassett."

Rev. Bassett was pastor of the local Methodist church, 1880 to 1890, during which time he visited every home in the membership, held cottage prayer meetings, revival services, organized the Epworth League, held Monday meetings after school for children which grew into a Junior League and was instant in season and out of season to increase the Kingdom of God. There are many in this community and Ashton who will call to mind this splendid good minister and his family with much pleasure and many fond memories of them.

Attended Banquet.

Miss Adella Helmershausen of this place, who was the first pupil to enter the doors of this college in 1900 gave a toast for the first class, giving a short talk on the "Four Pathways of the Normal School," which she spoke of very highly and was received with a hearty applause. The farewell of Prof. Parson, the last member of the first faculty, was most touching. Prof. Donald Kays of Columbus, Ohio, fittingly bade him a farewell and "Godspeed." Those attending the banquet from this place were: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fish, Mrs. Fish when Miss Beryl Skinner was a member of the class of 1912. Henry W. Helmershausen was a summer student in 1903. Miss Alice Helmershausen also a summer student and Miss Adella Helmershausen of the class of 1900. It was a real pleasure for these former pupils to gather at the college and renew old acquaintances.

In view of the fact that plans are being made for the Gilbert oyster supper which is to be held Saturday evening, November 2nd, we have secured some very interesting information concerning this famous supper which is known far and wide. In the fall of 1905 a number of members of the local Presbyterian church were wishing they knew how to earn some money for their church. Joe Gilbert being among the number told them that he had a plan, and offered to furnish all the oysters and crackers for as many people as they would bring to his country home, north of town, in fact he went one better and offered to come to town and take them to his home. His sisters, Misses Eunice and Lucy, who live with him, not to be outdone by their brother, decided to furnish pressed chicken and buns. On a Saturday evening following the conversation "Joe" came to town with a hayrack and took twenty-four people to his home for the first Gilbert Oyster Supper. The Gilbert family continued this practice every October until 1913 when the crowd became so large that it was necessary to bring the supper to town as their home would not accommodate them. The first supper was held in Kersten hall. Finally it again

Thirty war vessels were estimated to be participating in the maneuvers. Only about 53, besides tenders, remained in the harbor this morning.

SPEECH IS WARNING.

London, Oct. 16—(AP)—Abrupt cancellation without explanation, of the cruise of the British grand fleet to Greek waters has convinced foreign military quarters it will be kept indefinitely in the vicinity of Suez and Gibraltar.

These quarters also noted that the fleet, scheduled to begin its cruise Monday had been reinforced with airplanes in the Suez sector.

Britons holding the view that the Anglo-Italian tension is growing because of the British opposition to Italy's campaign in Ethiopia attach the greatest significance to a speech delivered by Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, warning that the end of the present difficulty is not yet in sight.

May Last All Winter.

Chamberlain made it clear that, in his view, the present international tension would not be dissipated by next spring, adding:

"Do not make any mistake. We are not at the end but the beginning of what may be a long period of difficulty, doubt and anxiety, during which there may be recurring crises of serious character."

While the government remained uncommunicative about its naval and military moves, observers read into Chamberlain's speech a warning that the big fleet would not be pulled out of the Mediterranean during the period to which he referred.

BRITISH FLEET MANEUVERING IN PORT SAID AREA

Increased Tension in Anglo-Italian Situation is Seen

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)

Alexandria, Egypt, Oct. 16—Great Britain's navy has begun its first large maneuvers, off the coast between here and Port Said, seaport at the north end of the Suez Canal on Italy's route to East Africa.

Two aircraft carriers, the Courageous and Glorious, and most of the largest vessels of the fleet which has been crowded into Alexandria's harbor left during the night and this morning for the exercises.

Naval experts said this stretch of the coast would be the first objective of an Italian air or sea at-

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

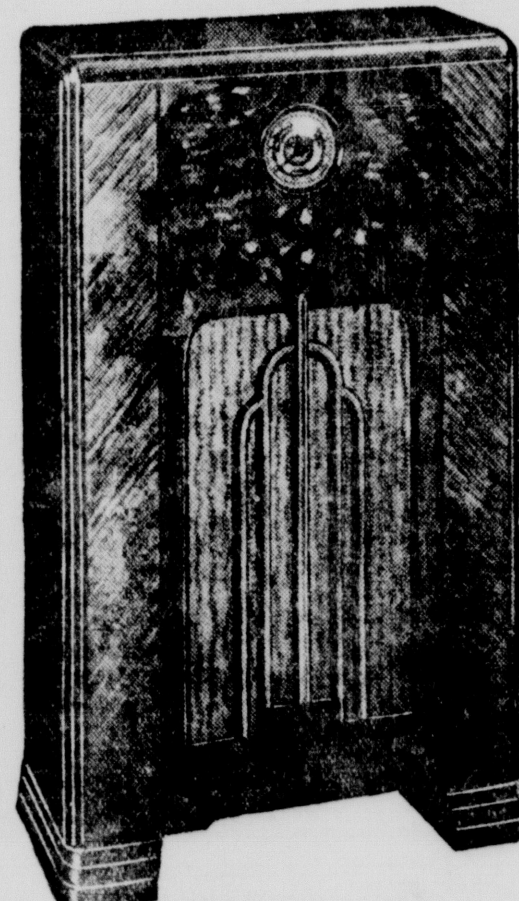

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.
